How to nail an interview with your smile?

A good smile doesn't mean an attractive hollywood like smile. It means a sincere smile. A sincere smile makes you look warm, approachable and friendly. It can calm a tense room and thus is an important tool in your job hunting toolkit.

1. A great pre-first impression- Smile in your LinkedIn photo and your social media pictures.
2. Show that you are confident and capable- a confident handshake with a relaxed sincere smile shows you are self assured and gives a great first impression. Practice answering questions with a smile.
3. Avoid bad breath- Foul smelling breath is a big turn off and shows you don't take care of yourself.
4. Take care of your pearly whites- Check in the mirror for any food that might be stuck between your teeth. Many people consider teeth whitening a few days earlier to give off their best impression.
5. Be careful of too much of a good thing- Mechanically smiling at strategic times during the interview will look fake and make a worse impression than your natural expression. You may wish to practice some in front of a mirror to make certain your smiles don't look forced or tense.
